Stockholm, July 20.

ON the 18th Instant, the Assembly of the States put an End to their Session and had Audience of Leave of his Majesty: They have dispatched all the Business they had under their Consideration, a few things excepted, which are of small Importance, and will be concluded in the ensuing Sessions. On the 11th in the Morning the Queen went from Carelberg to Droptingholm, where the King arrived in the Evening; the next Day their Majesties returned to Carelberg, where the Queen received the Compliments of the Nobility and Foreign Ministers, on occasion of the Festival of her Name. Towards the Evening, their Majesties, and Prince William of Hesse Cassel, went to Hommelgarde, where there was a splendid Entertainment and a Ball. After Dinner, Admiral Norris took Leave of their Majesties, and set out on the 16th for his Squadron to give some Orders, from whence he is expected the Day after Tomorrow. On the 15th Major General Diemer took Leave of the Court, and set out the Night following for Cadet. Colonel Livoran also set out some Days ago for the Court of France, with Dispatches relating to the Projects concerted for the Operations of War. Adjutant General Mark is not yet returned from Peteribourg. M. Burman, Ambassador of the States General, continues very ill, and it is said he will take his Leave of their Majesties in Writing, his Indisposition not permitting him to do it in Person.

Vienna, July 24. Yesterday about Noon, Count Virmont, late Imperial Ambassador at the Ottoman Porte, made his publick Entry from the Suburbs of Hungary to the Imperial Palace of the Favorita, in the same Order of Procession as he appeared when he made his Entry at Constantinople. First came a Detachment of the Imperial Regiment of Foot-Guards; then two Imperial Messengers for the Eastern Countries; the Ambassador's Querry, followed by 20 fine Led Horses, and 20 more were Turkish Horses, presented to his Excellency at the Ottoman Court, with rich Caparisons after the Turkish Fashion, the Stirrups and Bridles being of Silver; the other 10 Horses were the same which his Excellency carried with him to Constantinople, their Caparisons being of Crimson Velvet edged with Gold Lace. After them went 8 Trumpeters, and a Kettledrummer on Horseback; the Officers of the Noblemen of the Ambassador's Retinue, also on Horseback; the Ambassador's Steward and Domestic Officers, among whom were his Apothecary, Surgeon, Physician, 3 Clerks, and 22 other Secretaries; the Marshal of the Embassy, all on Horseback; then walked the Footmen of the Gentlemen of the Ambassador's Retinue, their Masters following on Horseback three a-breast, he who was the middlemost in the first Rank carried a white Body-Standard, with his Excellency's Coat of Arms; a Captain dressed in Violet Colours, and about Count Schrottenbach, his Excellency's Domestic Chaplain; then walked the Footmen of the Noblemen of the Ambassador's Retinue, followed by their Masters on Horseback, riding three a-breast; he who was the middlemost in the first Rank, carried the white Body-Standard; they were followed by his Excellency's Footmen in rich Livery, walking three in a Rank; then appeared the Ambassador on Horseback in a magnificent Habit of State, with white Feathers in his Hat; before him walked 4 running Footmen, and on both sides he was attended by 12 Haiducks in rich Dresses, after him went 2 Led Horses, the first was led by two Arabians, and the other by two German Grooms, being the two Horses which the Grand Signior made a Present of to the Ambassador, the Harnesses of which were set with Diamonds and precious Stones: Followed the Master of the Horse and 12 Pages on Horseback; the Field Musick, the Ambassador's Guard of Grenadiers about 30 Men with the Captain at their Head; some Domestic Servants on Horseback followed by 8 Mules richly loaded. The Procession was concluded by another Detachment of the fore-said Regiment of Guards.

Copenhagen, July 30. Yesterday the King of Denmark gave a magnificent Entertainment to the Lord Carteret, and several of his own Ministers at Fredericksbourg. His Majesty designs to set out for Holstein next Week, and it is believed the solemn Proclamation of the Peace with Sweden will not be performed here before his Majesty's Return.

Frankfort, July 31. According to some Letters from Vienna, the Emperour has resolved to issue a Mandate, ordering that the Reformed in the Palatinate shall be restored to the Use of their Churches, without any Alteration, except that the Elector Palatine's Privilege and Coat of Arms be left out; so that the Jesuits will be obliged to restore to them all the Copies which they have caused to be seized. Letters from Heidelberg of the 25th Instant advise, that Privy Councillour Becker, who has been very active in the Affairs of Religion in that City, died there last Night.

Cologne, Aug. 2. Yesterday the Bishop of Munster and Paderborn arrived at Naps, to visit the Elector of Cologne his Uncle, and those two Princes are since gone to Herren, a Country House belonging to Count Nesselroth.

Hambourg, Aug. 2. Letters from Stockholm say the King of Sweden set out from thence on the 22d inst for Gafel, to view the Army, from whence his Majesty is expected no sooner than about 3 Weeks after. The same Day Count Vaudernath, who has been a Prisoner for 19 Months, was set at Liberty upon Bail. When the States of Sweden were assembled for the last time in the Hall of the Nobility, Count Horn their Marshal made an eloquent Speech to them, which was universally applauded, and the Order of the Nobles presented him with 4 Gold Medals to the Value of 30 Ducats each, in Acknowledgement of the great Application he has shewn in the publick Business during this Session.
